FALL QUARTER ENDS ON WED.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE TEACHERS TO REMAIN IN MARYVILLE.

MIRACLE DRAWS SOME

Winter Quarter at Institution Opens Nov. 30—Miss Helen Dvorak to Return About Dec. 1.

Although almost all of the State Teachers College students will go to their homes for the Thanksgiving and the period between quarters, the majority of the College faculty members will remain in Maryville, a survey shows.

The College will end its fall quarter at 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, and there will be a vacation period until the winter quarter begins with matriculation for freshmen at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 30. This whole day will be given over to registration for first year students, and their classes will start Wednesday morning. Final examinations at the College will be next Tuesday and Wednesday.

While the freshmen are attending their first day classes of the winter quarter, the sophomores and upperclassmen will be registering. Wednesday will be devoted to preparing courses for the three upper classes, and school work for them will start Thursday.

A College ruling provides that faculty members of the College do not leave Maryville until twenty-four hours after classes dismiss. This means that all teachers will be here for the Thanksgiving Day football game with Tarkio College.

The reason for holding the teachers an extra day is that this affords them time to record all of their grades for the quarter. The vacation period will be devoted to sorting course cards and recording grades on the College records by the force in the office of W. A. Rickenbrode, registrar.

The majority of the extension coures offered by the College will carry on throughout the vacation period. A large number of faculty members will meet these classes on the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, will be in his office throughout the vacation, as will Miss Edith A. Barnard, dean of women.

A number of faculty members will go to Kansas City during the vacation period to attend "The Miracle." The majority of these are planning to attend the spectacle on Thanksgiving night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hake will spend the vacation in Peru, Neb. Mr. Hake is a teacher of physics at the College.

Henry A. Foster, chairman of the history department at the College and also president of the faculty council, is in Columbia today representing the College at the dedication of the Memorial Tower and Stadium. Mr. Foster will return to Maryville tomorrow and will spend the remainder of his vacation here.

Bert Cooper, director of extension at the College, will spend Thanksgiving at the home of Judge Jake Shambarger near Graham. He will be in his office the remainder of the time.

Miss Lucille Brumbaugh, assistant librarian, will visit at her home in Maitland and will also attend "The Miracle" in Kansas City.

Miss Helen Dvorak, violin instructor in the Conservatory of Music, will land in the United States during the vacation period after three months study in Europe. Miss Dvorak will return to Maryville to resume her work about December 1.

Miss Ruth Jean Souter, education instructor, will visit her brother, C. J. Souter, in Des Moines.

Miss Mary E. Keith, demonstration school supervisor, is in Leadville, Mo., where she was called this week by the illness of her brother.

U. G. Whiffen, manual arts instructor, and Mrs. Whiffen will spend the vacation in Kansas City and Excelsior Springs.

Raymond J. Cradit, instructor in the commerce department, will visit his parents in Tarkio. He will also visit his uncle, Fred Cradit, there.

H. Frank Lawrence and L. M. Eck will go to Kansas City on November 27 to attend a business meeting of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Mr. Lawrence is director of

His Place at Older Boys' Meeting in Trenton Taken by Glen Litsch—Twelve Others Going.

Jack Sorrie, elected by the Hi-Y Club of the Maryville High School as one of the delegates to the Older Boys Conference the Thanksgiving week-end at Trenton, will be unable to go. His place has been taken by Glen Litsch. Halbert Catterson is the choice to represent the First Christian Church. All delegates to the conference have been elected or appointed with the exception of one more boy as a second delegate from the First Baptist Church.

Twelve other boys and a delegation leader will attend the Trenton conference.

GIRL RESERVES AID THE NEEDY

HI-Y TO AID RELIEF

Members of Club Will Answer Roll Call With Contribution of Food.—School Will Give Potatoes.

The Maryville High School is engaged in charity work for the needy folks of Maryville and is giving aid to the call of the Welfare Board. Credit for their work along charity lines is due especially to the Girl Reserves organization of the school.

This organization has undertaken the responsibility of caring for a family of seven members. For the past few weeks it has been supplying food and clothing for this particular family. The needy family was brought to the attention of the club members by the sponsor, Miss Fannie Hope, and the action of the club developed with the appointment of committees to assist in the matter. The food material and clothing are the contributions from the homes of the members, Maryville families which have any old clothing or care to make food contributions may have them distributed to proper families by Girl Reserves.

Another work of the organization is to care for children while mothers attend the meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association. This is done by sending a committee of girls to each ward school.

In response to the call of the Welfare Board for food or money, at the next meeting of the Hi-Y Club, Wednesday morning, each of the forty members will respond to the roll call with a contribution of food which will be turned over to Hal Hooker, of the Welfare Board.

An announcement will be made in assembly of the high school, Monday morning asking each of the 320 students together with the faculty to bring one potato to drop in the "barrel for the needy." This in turn will be given to the city.

Ground Is White; Coasting Now on; Blizzard Coming?

The first snow of the season to "mount to anything" fell here today. At press time this afternoon the ground was covered and small boys were already making an effort to coast on sleds which had become rusty resulted by disuse.

The temperature this morning was 19 degrees, according to J. R. Brink, official weather observer. Mr. Brink has received no storm warnings, but radio reports tell of a blizzard on the way.

The weather forecast is mostly cloudy today and Sunday with local flurries of snow and continued cold.

Points in northern Iowa are being visited with a heavy snow today according to word given to D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce. This information was supplied by a party that was in Conception Junction this morning to meet the Chicago Great Western. The train was plastered with snow evidence of having been through a heavy snow flurry. A passenger reports a blizzard is sweeping over Olwein, Ia.

BAD BLAZE AT NELSON HOME

FIRE LATE LAST NIGHT DOES $2,000 DAMAGE.

ITS ORIGIN UNKNOWN

Entire Roof and Second Floor Burned—Water More Harmful Than Flames, Chief Says.

A fire, which had gained much headway before being discovered, destroyed the roof and all of the second floor of the E. A. Nelson home, 721 East Seventh street about 11:30 o'clock last night. The total damage was estimated this morning at near $2,000 by Burt Rowley, fire chief, who said that water was more injurious than the flames. When the fire department arrived at the fire, the entire roof of the house was in flames, and it was only through careful handling that the blaze was checked before it destroyed the first floor of the residence.

A large crowd was attracted by the fire. It was a seven-room house.

A man living two blocks away discovered the blaze on the roof and turned in the fire alarm and notified the family. All were up at the time with the exception of Mr. Nelson, who had just retired. The fire truck was at the Nelson home for about an hour.

The exact cause of the fire is not known but is believed to have been from a defective flue or sparks on the roof. Mr. Nelson is certain that it could not have been caused by defective electric wires as he had gone over the wiring a few months ago and replaced some older wires.

Most of the furniture on the first floor was saved but the furniture on the upper floor was practically a loss.

The family has moved into a vacant residence nearby. The destroyed home is owned by Mr. Nelson and he plans to rebuild soon.

Small Blaze Today at C. C. Craig Home

Sparks From Flue Cause Damage of About $50—Fire Is Readily Extinguished.

The fire department made a run shortly before noon today to the residence of Cornelius C. Craig, at 107 South Buchanan street. Sparks from the flue caught the roof on the west side of the structure causing about a $50 damage. The house is owned by Fred Kurtz, sr. A boy passing the house discovered the fire and notified the occupants.

When the truck arrived the family was getting ready to remove the furniture, but it was not necessary.

County Offices Closed for Funeral

Members of the bar attended the services in a body.

GARY LEAVES ROAD BOARD

NODAWAY PROJECT LET

$60,000,000 Bond Issue And Tax Revenue Sufficient To Complete Program By 1931, Report Says.

Kansas City, Nov. 20.—Theodore Gary, chairman of the state highway commission, in a session of that body here late yesterday afternoon confirmed the announcement that he was resigning at once from the commission.

His announcement came in the form of an official adieu to the members of the board on which he has served as chairman five years.

The call of his private business—telephone interests that are world-wide—and the necessity of lessening the strain of his health are Mr. Gary's reasons for severing his highway commission connections.

Resignation Causes Regret.

He does so over the most urgent objections of Governor Baker and other members of the commission, who feel that the great credit for the inauguration of Missouri' road system belongs to Mr. Gary.

The highway department as it now functions has been built up under Mr. Gary's personal supervision almost all of the 60-million-dollar road bond issue has been spent in a manner that has given virtually complete satisfaction.

Mr. Gary In Parting Address.

After all the business of yesterday's session had been transacted, Mr. Gary arose and addressed his associates. His parting address to them:

"This is the last time I shall sit with you as a member of the state highway commission. I shall within a few days tender my formal resignation to Governor Baker, with whom I have already discussed the matter.

"I have enjoyed my five years' work on the commission, both because of the opportunity to help render a service to Missouri and because of the privilege of associating with the progressive citizens of nearly every community of the state in a great undertaking. I feel that the serious problems of this undertaking have been solved; that the future work is largely a matter of routine. My views of the situation are expressed in the statement, 'Outlook for road work in Missouri,' which was approved by this commission today.

"Commission Has Kept Faith."

"To this statement I would say a few personal observations. I do not hesitate to express my pride in the manner in which the commission has from the time of its creation kept faith with the people. It has been guided solely by the desire to advance the best interests of the state. It has known no classes or sections. It has followed business policies, without fear or favor, prejudice or favoritism. While bi-partisan in composition, it has been actually nonpartisan in conduct.

"It has been a pleasure to work with its members, who have shown great devotion to the public interest. Differences of judgment have arisen and been freely discussed, but, with only two or three exceptions, our decisions have been by unanimous vote. There has not been, to my knowledge, any self-seeking or scheming for advantage.

Grateful For Support.

"Neither has there been any evidence of intrigue in the state highway department. I have been happily connected with several organizations in a long business career, but I have never seen greater energy and greater fidelity than have been displayed by the personnel of the state highway department of Missouri.

"I wish to express appreciation of the co-operation of the press. Notwithstanding the temporary interests of various sections have at times seemed to clash and one might have expected some bitterness of feeling over decisions, the practically unanimous and enthusiastic support the newspapers of Missouri have given the commission will live in grateful memory forever.'

"I feel it would be ungracious not to mention the loyal backing of the commission by Governors Baker and Hyde, by the various sessions of the general assembly, by the county courts, and by the people speaking at popular elections on road questions.

"I trust the commission may be as loyally supported in the future in maintaining its high standards and that the

Revolutionary Moves Reported in Mexico

Certain Ferment In Several States Told Of, Regardless Of Embassy's Denial Today.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The revolutionary movement against the Calles Mexican government and in support of former professional president, Adolfo de la Huerta were reported unofficially today to be in progress in the states of Oaxaco and Chihuahua.

While the Mexican embassy denied any widespread revolutionary outburst against the Calles regime, the unofficial messages reported a certain ferment in several other stats.

This news served to divert attention somewhat from the discussion engendered by government discloures of alleged Mexican participation in gun running to the Nicaraguan liberals.

A SLUSH FUND IN MO. HINTED

CHARGED THAT MONEY WAS SPENT IN K. C. TO ELECT HAWES.

ABSURDITY, SAYS REED

H. R. Wamsley Says Street Car Interests Paid From $250,000 to $700,000 For Democratic Machine.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, turned over to the Senate election investigating committee today a letter he received from Kansas City, signed H. R. Wamsley, charging irregularities in the election of Harry Hawes, Democrat, as United States Senator. Wamsley contended that between $250,000 and $700,000 had been spent by the Democratic machine in Kansas City and that most of the money was contributed by street car interests in return for an extension of a city franchise.

The letter contained no direct proof of any of the charges, Norris said.

Similar letters have been received from time to time by the committee. An effort by committee members will be made to ascertain whether there is any basis for Wamsley's charges.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20.—Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the Senate elections committee, regards the story of an alleged slush fund in the Missouri political campaign as "characteristic of Wamsley," the Senator stated here today. Senator Reed declared the idea of such a sum is an "absurdity on its face."

If Wamsley will produce evidence of his charges and can prove the money was used to effect the election, the matter will be given due consideration, Reed said.

Missouri Leads K. U. in Annual Grid Game

Touchdown By Tuttle, Fullback, Late In Second Quarter, Comes After Teams Battled Furiously.

A touchdown by Tuttle, Missouri fullback, followed by an extra point, made late in the second quarter, was the only score in the first three quarters by either team in the annual classic football game between Missouri and Kansas at Columbia this afternoon. Missouri clearly outplayed her ancient rival in the first half and kept the ball continually in Jayhawk territory during this part of the game. In the third quarter the Kansas line showed considerable strength and held the Tigers on fairly even terms during this period.

Missouri attempted a number of place kicks from near the 40 yard line, all of which were unsuccessful.

O'Sullivan and Stuber were the outstanding Missouri players in the first half with Captain Zuber of Kansas bearing the blunt of the attack on the Jayhawk team.

GOV. PLEDGES SCHOOL FUNDS

WILL INTRODUCE BILL FOR PERMANENT FUND AT ASSEMBLY.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 20. — Acceptance by the Board of Curators of the University of Missouri of two memorials in tribute to the memory of the University's 117 war dead and to all Missouri men who paid the supreme sacrifice during the world war, was voiced here today by Mercer Arnold, Joplin, member of the Board of Curators.

Impressive ceremonies were held and it culminated in the promise of Gov. Sam A. Baker to have introduced at the next general assembly a permanent fund for the support of Missouri schools. Approximately 25,000 attended the exercises which were held here in conjunction with Missouri University annual homecoming celebration.

The memorial tower which forms the first unit of the Memorial Union building will house student and alumni organizations. The Memorial Stadium, the second of the student gifts, provides the University with a field adequate for its football crowds.

Arnold pointed out the memorial were not built with state money but with funds given by more than 9,000 former students, students and friends.

"Public money," Arnold said, "is raised by taxation," and much of it comes from those who have no direct interest in the university and who might, and perhaps justly, resent its appropriation for other than needful activities. And yet it is not well for our University to do without these other forms of college activity which make for a broader culture and wider experience.

"Book learning," he said, "must be supplemented with learning by contact with your follow men. It would seem wise to make that contact as agreeable and as wholesome as possible. The college spirit bred upon the football field and upon the campus is akin to that spirit and love of native land which we call patriotism. Whatever contributes to the healthy growth of that spirit contributes to a better manhood and a better womanhood and makes for better citizens of the state."

Governor Sam A. Baker, who also spoke at the dedication, declared it was a great gratification to him that the memorials were built by subscription.

"It is a wonderful thing," Baker said, "that those whose education has been made possible by a great commonwealth, should show their appreciation has been made possible by a great commonwealth, should show their appreciation in some way and I know of no more substantial way to show such appreciation than in the manner in which it has been shown by the erection of these memorials.

"At the next session of the General Assembly an effort will be made to establish a permanent school fund in this state, 50 per cent of it to go for support of the higher institutions and the remaining 50 per cent for the support of common schools.

"It has been my desire ever since I became connected with public affairs in the state to present some plan for the support of the educational institutions that would relieve the authorities from the necessity of lobbying before every General Assembly for sufficient funds to barely keep them going. Both political parties have endorsed the plan that will be presented to the assembly. Let us all work together. Even though we do not get a sufficient amount to support the institutions at the start, it is sure to give us ample means in time to come."

Mrs. Sophia Jones of Enid, Okla., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Herren, and her brother, J. W. Toel, left yesterday for her home. She was accompanied to St. Joseph by Mrs. Herren, Mrs. Toel and George Herren, who motored down.

Emphatic Change in Republican Politics

United Leadership, Welcome For "Insurgents," And Hope For Ousting Of Butler Are Big Features.

Washington, Nov. 20.—A gradual but emphatic change in party politics is being wrought by the Republican leaders to strengthen the ranks for the coming congressional battle—and with an eye, too, for the 1928 presidential campaign.

First, united leadership in the Senate has been claimed and the sole authority of Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader, has been accepted. Secondly, the "insurgent" element of the party, which was previously so much scorned, is now being reported to a position of welcome within the ranks.

The third recognized movement is to replace Senator William Butler of Massachusetts as chairman of the national committee. Despite Butler's denial, Republicans suggest his retirement before long.

Republican senators lay most of the trouble on Butler, due largely to his activity against Brookhart of Iowa. The latter was ousted from the Senate, and a Democrat, Steck, was seated.

If Brookhart had remained in the Senate he would not have defeated the administration in the Iowa primary, and the Democrats would not be so dangerously near to control of the next Senate, these critics declare.

While Curtis was the nominal head of the party in the last Senate, Butler was regarded as the unofficial head because he was a friend of President Coolidge, but Butler seldom took council of the President or any lesser lights.

Restoration of the "insurgent" element marks a reversal of the ouster proceedings against them. These were sanctioned by Butler.

Private suggestions that Butler retire are accompanied by urgings that a Mid-Western man fairly familiar with all party leaders be chosen.

Burlington Junction

(J. Howard Thompson, Correspondent.)

Miss Maggie Morgan, who was taken to the hospital in St. Joseph some few weeks ago and underwent an operation for gall bladder infection, is at home again, with prospects for complete recovery very bright. She is spending some days with Dr. and Mrs. Hindman.

The hospital campaign in the Burlington Junction Charge was completed Friday of this week. The pastor had for his assistant here, Rev. G. B. Draper, pastor of the Methodist Church in Maitland. The results of the Campaign will show a much larger subscription for the hospital than last year, and that in the face of economic depression.

Here and there we find an individual who can keep a secret very well, for a time at least. Just listen to this: Miss Harriett E. Warren, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. B. Warren of Burlington Junction, just went to Kansas City last July, and married Raymond G. Carlson of St. Joseph, and none of her friends knew of it until this week. The groom is manager of this district for the Standard Oil Co., with headquarters in Maryville, where the young people will live. The writer of these notes extends the heartiest possible congratulations.

Mrs. Wesley Jones of Loveland, Colo, who has been here for the past few weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Evans, and sister, Mrs. T. E. Forsythe, and other relatives, returned to her home this week. She formerly lived in this community, and has many friends here.

The parent-teachers association was well attended Thursday night, and a fine program was given by the school. Prof. Rutledge gave a very interesting talk on co-operation. The taking of the number of the shoes worn by the members of the association provoked much fun and laughter.

Jones & Abel had on display at their store this week a huge jack habbit, shot by Harley Kelter, on the T. A. Corken farm, southwest of town, a few days ago. It attracted considerable attention, as it was a rare specimen, but few of that species being seen here any more.

Rev. Isadore Diebold, of Conception Junction, Mo., and pastor of the Catholic Church here, was right royally entertained at the Cummins' home, east of town, at a specially prepared dinner, last Sunday. Other guests present were, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cummins of Maryville, and the Cummins children of this community, James Tobin, and Simon Ryan. All report a most pleasurable time.

Editor L. R. Sims of the Burlington Junction Post, having a tooth for roast turkey, announces that he and his whole force will hold themselves ready for any opportunity, which may present itself, for Thanksgiving dinner, and therefore announces that solely for that reason, his paper will be published one day earlier than usual next week.

Rev. G. B. Draper, the pastor of the Methodist Church in Maitland, who has been in Burlington Junction for the past four days helping the pastor here with the canvass for the new hospital, left for his home this Saturday morning. The canvas here being completed, he will be transferred to Bethany and Harrison County, next week. He is a most splendid fellow.

Rev. J. Howard Thompson received a long distance from the Swan Chapel neighborhood, south of Maryville, to be present at an all day meeting, one week from Sunday or November 28 to enjoy a "home coming with them." Mr. Thompson was pastor at Swan Chapel nineteen years ago, and has many friends in that community.

Nine young men of the college at Conception Junction, came to Burlington Junction, Thursday of this week with Rev. Father Diebold, the pastor of the Catholic Church, and visited throughout the day. Those coming were Thomas Connelly, R. Bock, Edward Freeman, N. Deleere, J. Andrea, M. Lavan, L. Sudbeck, T. Dempsey and Thomas Lysight.

Homer Carmichael has treated himself to a new Ford car with a winter top. Homer is on the road during all kinds of weather and felt the necessity of a warmer car in which to ride. He sells medicine for the Watson Company.

Charles Hackett and wife of Chalk Butte, S. D., are here visiting relatives and friends. They were pioneers in South Dakota, having gone there eighteen years ago, and homesteaded, when the country was far newer than now. They have rented their farm in the north and will locate either here or in Southern Iowa for a time. They were former residents of Nodaway County, and have many friends in this community.

Fletcher Dalby is building a large, new and commodious double corncrib on his farm, southwest of town, to take proper care of his crop of corn now ready for cribbing. Mr. Dalby has a fine farm and specializes in Chester White hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller entertained in honor of Miss Elizabeth Frahse, at their home, one block off Main street, Friday night of last week, with an oyster supper. You can preserve the beauty of fine linens

A thorough Scalding Rinse is the secret

WOULDN'T you like to keep that original snowy-white delicate freshness in your fine linens and dainty under-garments instead of helplessly watching them turn gray after a few washings? You can keep them like new—but not alone by thorough washing. Much also depends upon the rinsing—rinsing in scalding water in such a way that the ugly gray scum which floats on the rinse water is kept from clinging to the fabric.

Come in and let us show how the Laun-Dry-Ette makes possible this kind of rinsing.

County Health Department Gave 2,000 Treatments Two Years Ago—Would Stamp Out Disease.

Next week is diphtheria immunization week in Nodaway County, according to a statement by Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer, this morning. An effort will be made to have all children immunized during the week. Parents are urged to take their children to the family physician and have them given the toxin-antitoxin treatment.

"Missouri is working toward a definite goal as far as diphtheria is concerned," Dr. Fryer said today. "Our object is to stamp out this disease in the state by 1930. Two years ago we conducted an extensive campaign throughout the county. More than 2,000 persons were given the toxin-antitoxin treatment.

"A lack of funds this year makes it impossible for the department to conduct such an expensive and extensive campaign. Because of that we are asking parents to take their children to the family physician for treatment.

"Antitoxin is used for treating diphtheria after it appears," Dr. Fryer said. "Toxin-antitoxin is used to prevent the disease before it appears.

"After children reach the school age, they are not as likely to contract the disease. Therefore, our best means of fighting it is to get the children of pre-school age immunized."

This is diphtheria weather, the county health officer pointed out.

"Do not let your child get diphtheria," he said. "Take him to your family physician and have him give the toxin-antitoxin treatment. This is certain to prevent the disease in almost all cases. The treatment is simple. It consists of an injection of toxin-antitoxin once a week for three weeks. This has no harmful effect."

The earlier the treatment is given after the infant has reached the age of six months the better, Dr. Fryer pointed out. It is between the age of six months and five years that the child is most likely to contract the disease, which is highly contagious.

Light Company Has 154.2 Miles of Wires

Valuation Is Placed at $53,359 On Same—Was Not Included in Original Assessment.

According to a letter from the State Tax Commission to Fred W. Smith, County Clerk, the Maryville Electric Light & Power Co., has a mileage of 154.2 miles in Maryville of electric wires and the valuation is placed at $53,359. The commission says the clerk should amend the state report by adding that valuation and extend the taxes on the same at the city rate.

The light company failed to include the number of mileage here and took the matter up with the state tax commission on discovering their mistake.

Is Stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital—Has Been in Service Four Years.

Kenneth Sherman, who is stationed at the Great Lakes Naval hospital, near Chicago, arrived this morning for a thirty day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sherman, 210 West Third street. Mr. Sherman has been in the service for four years and has traveled during that time to Honolulu, Panama, the west coast of the United States and part of the east coast.

Willard Dowden, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Dowden received a few bruises about the arm from a fall obtained while returning home from school yesterday. The little boy was in a hurry to get home and while running tripped and fell. It was thought that his arm was broken but examination by a local physician found it to be only slight injury. The Dowden family lives in the Myrtle Tree neighborhood.

morale of the state highway department never may be shaken.

"I feel that I have earned a rest and that the time has come when I can conscientiously retire, without injury to the Missouri state road program, in which I have taken as much interest as I ever did in any personal business. With sincere thanks for your uniform courtesy, I wish to bid you official adieu."

The contract for the Maryville-Ravenwood road was awarded yesterday. This project goes to T. J. Morris of Oregon as announced a few weeks ago and includes 7.38 miles of 30-foot graded earth construction.

Additional Roads Opposed.

The commission also went on record as opposing the designation of any additional state roads until the present system has reached completition.

If the present laws are not changed, the report of the commission states, the entire system of 7,640 miles of all-weather roads will be completed by 1931 and they can be brought to standard within three or four years after that.

In 1927, according to the report, approximately $13,000,000 will be available for construction. This includes $5,000,000 in bonds unsold, $2,400,000 of federal aid and the revenue from gasoline tax and motor licenses after interest and maintenance expenses have been deducted.

Pay-As-We-Go In 1928.

"In 1928 the work will be on a strictly pay-as-we-go basis. A net increase of $1,000,000 a year on motor vehicle registration fees and gasoline tax is estimated conservately. After all other charges are met, there will be from $10,000,000 to $11,000,000 available for construction. Some contracts for 1929 may be awarded safely toward the close of 1928.

"There will be from $14,000,000 to $15,000,000 available for construction each year thereafter until the system is completed. These figures are based on continuation of present policies and present rates. If a speedier program is desired the commission will give out what in its judgment, is the wisest method."

"The all-weather policy," it states, includes the temporary laying of 9-foot slabs on some stretches, the temporary use on some roads of 4 inches of gravel surfacing until the other four inches can be laid and the temporary use of gravel surfacing on certain roads which eventually will be paved with concrete.

"Experience already has shown some additional work will be required in rounding up the system. The completion of any part of a road always affects the tide of travel. Already it is seen that some gravel roads must be surfaced with concrete to take care of actual traffic. Some concrete roads will have to be widened and some stretches may have to be paralleled."

CO-OPERATION IS DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON CIRCLE P.-T. A. MEETS THURSDAY.

"MOVIES WILL STAY"

Are Factor for Education, Mrs. Miller Says.—Men to Furnish Program on December 16.

The Washington Circle, Parent-Teacher Association, met in the high school auditorium Thursday afternoon. Mrs. L. S. Yeo, program leader, in introducing the subject of "Community Co-operation," spoke for a few minutes on the value of the habit of promptness. She emphasized that the tardy one is not the only one who suffers loss; in school the whole class loses, which amounts to hours of actual time.

She was followed by Mrs. Earl Henderson on "Why we of the community should encourage the desirable things for our children." She said: "Not many are able to resist the temptation to put money before manhood. The highest right of a child is the right to a true home in which to find nourishment, protection, guidance and training in preparation for the day when, as a full-grown man or woman, the child is to take its place in the world for which, by its capabilities and training, is fitted. Thus in strengthening our generation of today we we strengthen that of tomorrow."

Mrs. W. A. Miller spoke of the movies. "They are a factor for education, nothing can take their place, and they are here to stay," said Mrs. Miller. "The familiarize us with persons, places and operations which we could never comprehend through reading. The exhibitors wish to please their patrons, and will endeavor to give them what they want. Then we should acquaint ourselves with the best pictures to be shown, and patronize them."

Sxcerpts from Mrs. Garnett Gray Watt's talk follows:

"The need of wholesome recreation has been so persistently brought to the attention of the public that it seems to me now the crying need is action. First let us gain control of our boy's and girl's leisure hours. There always has been and there always will be undesirable moral surroundings in our midst. Can we keep our young people from such associations by our criticisms? No. We must furnish counter attractions. We can make our school building the social center of our community and in so doing we would make a greater contribution to social welfare than any other community effort. We can encourage junior dramatic clubs, hiking and camping clubs, the scout movement, glee clubs, and orchestras. We can make use of our school play grounds after school hours and during vacations with either volunteer or paid leadership. We can even solve the dance problem whereby every high school boy and girl can have an opportunity to learn correct position. Clean dances sponsored and chaperoned by the Parent-Teacher Association will result in the ideals of the students, themselves so high that incorrect dancing will not be tolerated. Remember, in this we have competition of an unclean kind. We must offer a substitute."

A round table discussion was then conducted by Mrs. Yeo. Forty-three members attended the meeting. The pennant went to room 6B, taught by Miss Louise Peery. The next meeting will be on the evening of December 16, when the program will be furnished wholly by the men.

Says Schools Should Develop Vocabularies

Limited Diction and Faculty Spelling of Average Pupil Is Blamed On Lack of Interest.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 20.—Vocabularies are not getting the attention they should in public schools according to Prof. Ernest Horn of the college of education of the University of Iowa.

Grade school pupils should learn at least 5,000 words during their school careers, the professor said, after having made an investigation of the grammar used by school students in their themes and letters.

New and desirable words which appeal to the imagination are suggested by Prof. Horn to be employed by the instructors in creating and maintaining an interest in spelling. The choice of words of the average pupils and his faulty spelling are pointed out as directly due to a lack of interest in the subject.

Those for the first quarter are as follows: Freshmen class: Alice May Smith and Violet Robinson; sophomores: Donald Johnson, Galand McGinness and Marie McGinness; juniors: Marvin Collins, Glen Swaney and Hazel B. MAKES RULING ON PURCHASES

STATE SUPT., WRITES CONCERNING FREE TEXT FUND.

FORFEITURE PENALTY

World Book and Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia Are Approved for Reference Use in Schools.

In a letter to Lesie G. Somerville, County superintendent of schools, Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, states that "schools purchasing encyclopedias or supplementary sets of reference work out of the free text book fund before text books and supplementary texts have been provided will forfeit their right to the free text book money."

Mr. Lee also writes that the World Book and Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia have been approved.

His letter in full follows:

"Sometime since the Department approved Compton's Pictures Encyclopedia and the World Book as approved encyclopedias meeting fully the requirements of an encyclopedia for rural schools desiring to be placed on the first or second class approved list. The Department has also in the past approved the Book of Knowledge. Pictured Knowledge, and the Book of Rural Life as containing valuable supplementary material and being the equivalent of so many volumes toward meeting the library requirements for approved first and second class rural schools. The last three are not encyclopedias and cannot be classed as such. The first two, the World Book and Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia have been approved as encyclopedias by the Educational Committee of the National Library Association and also by the Committee on Elementary Schools of the National Education Association, and these are the only two sets of books approved by these committees as meeting the full requirements of a general juvenile encyclopedia. Just as soon as other sets of books are approved by these two committees as general encyclopedias they will be approved by the Department.

"It has been brought to my attention upon numerous occasions that encyclopedias and sets of supplementary work are being purchased with free text book money. The purpose of the free text book money is to purchase text books and supplementary books for the schools and should be used for that purpose. No school should, under any circumstances, purchase encyclopedias or sets of supplementary work until free and supplementary texts have been provided. Schools purchasing encyclopedias or supplementary sets of reference work out of the free text book fund before text books and supplementary texts have been provided will forfeit their right to the free text book money.

"I understand also, that a number of districts have purchased encyclopedias and sets of supplementary work and mortgaged the free text book money for two or even three years. This should not be done under any circumstances. If any districts in your county have purchased encyclopedias or sets of supplementary work in this manner the orders should be cancelled and the books returned immediately as they were not sold in a legal manner.

"Numerous cases of misrepresentation on the part of some of the agents who are selling the Book of Knowledge have been called to my personal attention during the last two years. Statements have reached me to the effect that many districts have purchased the Book of Knowledge with the definite understanding that it meets the requirements of a juvenile encyclopedia for the approval of first and second class rural schools. If such has been the case in your county I would recommend that the orders be cancelled and the books returned to the publishers. This set of books is not an encyclopedia and cannot be classed as such.

"I also desire to advise you that on account of the numerous cases of misrepresentation which have been brought to my attention during the past two years on the part of the agents selling the Book of Knowledge I am constrained to withdraw my approval in any form from this work. I am compelled to do this for the protention and the taxpayers' money has the public school funds, for in many instances cases of misrepresentation have been brought to my personal attention and the taxjayers' money has in some instances been unwisely spent. I trust that you will get in touch with the teachers and boards of education in your county at the earliest possible date and let them know that all approval of the Book of Knowledge by this Department has been withdrawn.

"I want to assure you that it is with a great deal of hesitancy I take this action, and I do it solely to protect the school people and the taxpayers of this state."

Fairview Bird Club Elected New Officers

The Fairview Bird Club met last week and elected new officers. Russell Sherman was elected president and Miss Ruth as secretary. Several at Barnard Present Every Day

MORE HOT SHOTS

Lawrence Wray believes half the enjoyment of a restaurant meal is to "kid the waitress." He tried to demonstrate his theory to a group of friends in a restaurant in Burlington Junction one night this week. It didn't work and the entire group came near having to eat somewhere else. It was no serious offense, but if in doubt, ASK LAWRENCE.

Cleo King has expressed the hope she never breaks into print by the writer of "Hot Shots." That must be a suggestion.

Miss Fannie Hope (in commercial geography class): "Explain how fisheries help provide ham and eggs for the dinner table?"

Ralph Hudson: "You have the fish for dinner and save the ham and eggs for supper."

The eye is a wonderful observer. Miss Bertha Northcutt declares Queen Marie while in Kansas City, wore a red hat. Miss Mabel Messick is certain the hat worn by the Queen was a brown one.

Click! Click! Virginia Braun's camera is giving high school celebrities a nervous head ache. She's the Maryvillian's photographer.

Miss Laura B. Hawkins and Miss Fannie Hope, according to a good authority, attended in addition to the Teachers Meeting in Kansas City last week, a mid-night show at the Newman Theater.

In reporting the agriculture boys' trip to Kansas City, Bill New said, "The talk on 'forks' on Monday certainly did help us out at the banquet."

Peaple are probably wondering why students are getting so many vacations. That's nothing. The time will soon be at hand when people will be wondering when the students will ever get a vacation. The spell is like a Ford car. Troubles came at once and then a spell of good service.

Homecoming brings many vivid memories, one of which is, a year ago the student body got a squint at Homer Croy.

There was one thing wrong with Homecoming. Mr. Bronson was asked to lead the students and alumni in the singing of "Maryville High I Love You," and he didn't know the words. They tried to find somebody who could lead and finally William Gaugh was escorted to the platform. After all this trouble they had to get a pianist. They secured Gertrude Wray, but lo, and behold, they didn't have the sheet music and have to give up the hopes of piano accompaniment. After they did get started it was discovered that the singing was largely the work of the alumni minus three hundred voices of the present generation of students. "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." They did and it worked.

AG., STUDENTS TELL OF TRIP

FIFTEEN M. H. S. BOYS ATTEND CONGRESS IN K. C.

TRIP IS EDUCATIONAL

More Than 800 Missouri Boys Are Entertained With Elaborate Program in Connection With American Royal.

Fifteen vocational agriculture students of the Maryville High School with E. R. Coats, instructor of vocational agriculture at the high scool, attended the Vocational Agriculture Congress held in connection with the American Royal at Kansas City Nov. 15, 16 and 17. In the party were: George Hepburn, Jr., George Epperson, Marvin Epperson, Kenneth Evans, William New, Oren Garrett, Forest Wells, Edwin Manley, Marvin Lyle, Hans Neilson, Bob Hughes, Noble Florea, John Dooley, Vernon Taylor, Owen Thompson, Forest Stock and Floyd Bailey.

An article about this trip follows:

"The entire trip was educational from beginning to end, as an elaborate program was scheduled for our benefit.

"Missouri Vocational Agriculture officials expected 500 Missouri boys to attend the Congress. More than 800 boys attended, and once more we put one over on Kansas as she presented only one-half as many. Hotel Baltimore served as Headquarters for the Missouri boys.

"Vocational Agriculture students from every section of the state joined in the trips furnished us by various concerns in Kansas City. Our first trip was out to the American Royal Building where we saw on exhibit the finest live stock that this great middle west produced. From there we went into the arena and joined in a parade. Each school carried a banner and boys wore caps with Vocational Agriculture written on with Gold and black letters. We then witnessed the million dollar parade of Livestock and finished the evening program by seeing one of the finest horse shows ever staged in Kansas City.

"On the following day, the boys met at the American Royal building and were conducted on a tour of the Stock yards. From the stock yards, we were transported to the Armour's Packing Plant and given a luncheon, followed by an exceedingly interesting trip through the plant. This trip alone was worth the money expended for the entire trip. Free transportation was given the boys from Armour's to Hotel Baltimore where a banquet given by the Kansas City Star was enjoyed. An interesting part of the program at the banquet was a talk by Will Rogers, nationally known comedienne.

"On Wednesday, the last day of our Congress, the boys were given a tour of the Kansas City Star and the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. The last act of generous hospitality showed us was given by the Main Street Theatre. It was there that the boys took the last long lingering look at the stage and rushed madly out to catch the 4 o'clock limited and return to the land of hogs, corn and cattle."

MYRA ALDRICH, a spoiled beauty living at Judith's boarding house, hates Judith because of Eric's attentions to her.

With Eric, Judith gets into numerous scrapes, among them a dinner at a roadhouse which is raided and a moonlight hike from which she is compelled to accept a ride home with "KITTY" SHEA, town ruffian, because Eric has drunk too much.

Dean Brown tells her that his wife is going to visit friends in a small town upstate, but Judith sees her in the city hotel where Judith has gone for a week end of relaxation. Mrs. Brown is escorted by a handsome man.

When she returns to Pendleton, Eric gets off the same train and Dean Brown sees them together. Mrs. Brown sends for Judith and throws herself and her secret on her mercy. Judith assures her she will not speak of having seen her in town.

During this conversation, the dean comes home and says sneeringly, "I trust you and Mr. Waters enjoyed your week-end trip, Miss Martin."

Judith leaves the house in anger. On the way home she is accosted by "KITTY" SHEA, a town ruffian, who threatens to tell of seeing her dining at a roadhouse with Eric some time before, just before the place was raided. Shea is frightened away by two men students.

Harassed by these worries that night, Judith falls asleep only to be wakened by steps below. She finds Myra, in a coma from poison liquor, leaning against the front door. Judith nurses her through the night.

Myra swears to live down the incident, which is the first of its kind. She is grateful to Judith.

Next day, Judith goes to a conference suddenly called by the dean. There Dean Brown brings in a newspaper with the headline, "Two Students Die of Poison Booze."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

Dr. Dorn placed a chair for Judith and sat down beside her.

Dean Brown cast an appraising eye over the crowd, and with meticulous small rustlings, smoothed the newspaper out on his table. Then he cleared his throat.

"Fellow faculty members," he said, "you have learned by this time of the appalling disaster which has befallen this university. Every man and woman on the teaching staff must feel that matters in Pendleton have reached a crisis demanding the strongest concerted action on the part of the authorities.

"The existence of liquor among our students is bad enough. We have struggled against the nefarious traffic without cessation. But now come the deaths of two university students as a grim warning that our struggle has not been determined enough.

"I must call upon every member of the faculty to regard himself or herself as an agent to bring the liquor traders to justice. We must root out this evil—"

Judith's head swam. She turned toward the window and strained for a breath of fresh air, pressing her fingers against her temples.

She felt Dr. Dorn's fingers touch her arm reassuringly. "Are you ill?" he whispered. She shook her head.

The dean continued. "We know that the liquor which killed young Black and Miss McPherson—". Judith's tightly clenched hands relaxed at these unfamiliar names—"was the sort handled by a certain bootlegger who has long been notorious in the community. We are also convinced that it was distributed by a student colleague of this bootlegger, whose name we are not yet ready to announce. This man has been missing from his fraternity house for nearly twenty-four hours.

"When we do find the evidence to prove that these men brought the liquor into student circles, we shall turn them over to the police, to be punished by the full power of the law."

"In the meantime, it behooves us to work ceaselessly for the rescue of the young people who walk constantly in temptation."

He cleared his throat again and poured out a glass of water from the white pitcher on the table.

Dr. Dorn stirred suddenly and stood up. The audience turned its battery of eyes on him.

"I suggest," said Dr. Dorn quietly, "that we try to avoid hysteria in this crisis. That it is a crisis none of us can question. But that Pendleton is in a worse state than any other modern college, we should be firm to deny.

"Every college draws all types of students. Some will inevitably incur scandal. That does not mean that the college system is unsound. It only means that we must work a little harder for clean living on our own campus, and in emergencies, keep our sense of perspective. Unruly individuals must be expelled without grace."

The door opened noisily. Everybody twisted about to stare at it. Framed in the doorway stood Eric Waters, hands in pockets, feet wide apart. He was looking superciliously at the crowd within.

There was not a sound as he slowly stirred and strode forward to the dais. Poised squarely in front of it, he looked up at Dean Brown.

"I hear you have something to say about me. Suppose you say it TO me, for a change."

A little shiver ran over the crowd. Dean Brown put his hands in his pockets, removed them and put them in again. The veins on his temples were swelling.

At last he cleared his throat, and the sound rasped upon the stiff air. "I was not aware that you had been summoned to this meeting, Waters. We have nothing to say to you.

Eric laughed and squared his shoulders. "So I thought. You only want to talk ABOUT me, without giving me a chance to defend myself. Well, fair enough. Now, I've got something to say to you."

The light of battle was gleaming in his eyes and Judith watched him in fearful admiration.

"You've made veiled remarks about me and the rum-running trade." At the phrase Dean Brown made a gesture with a fluttering hand. But Eric went on.

"Two students died last night from poison hooch—I beg your pardon. I meant to say unwholesome intoxicants. I've come here to tell you that I drank some of that liquor myself, but I gave none of it to anybody else."

"Gave?" queried the dean with emphasis.

"Nor sold," retorted Eric. "I had nothing to do with it. I think that's all." He was turning to leave the room, when he saw Judith for the first time, and stopped.

The dean leaned far over the edge of the dais and shook his finger at Eric. "You will hear more of this!" he shouted.

But Eric was not listening. He was staring at Judith with a desperate questioning in his eyes. She stared back, as though bewitched. Dr. Dorn was watching her closely. Eric began to walk toward her slowly until he stood in front of her, facing the rest of the crowd.

"Judith," he said hoarsely, "you believe me, don't you?" There was dead silence in the room. Judith felt a hand on her arm, and turned to see Dr. Peter Dorn bending toward her with anxious eyes.

She looked back at Eric, who had not moved. "Yes," she said simply, "I do."

The dean leaned heavily on his table and two young instructors took an anxious step toward him. Eric turned and walked quickly through the door. The noise in the room swelled to a chorus of excitement.

Dr. Dorn was still leaning toward Judith. She saw dismay in his eyes. "Why—?" he began. But Judith interrupted him.

"Because I do believe in him," she said firmly. "I saw no reason to lie."

"But the dean—!" Several persons were crowding up, eager to hear Judith's words.

She turned deliberately and spoke clearly, so that they should not be disapointed. "The dean be hanged. I shall keep my own opinion."

Judith stood up. The room was ominously quiet. The dean stood in the same spot, dazedly wiping his neck with a silk handkerchief, while scared henchmen hovered about him, awaiting the collision.

It did not come. Judith walked toward the door. Dr. Dorn rose to follow her. She stepped out into the cool, dark corridor, and he was at her heels. She went on without speaking, until thy reached the portico. There she turned about and faced him with a kind of desperation. "Why have you come with me?"

The professor looked at the floor. "Why,—I don't know," he answered miserably. "Would you rather I hadn't?"

"It will ruin you with dean Brown," she remarked, scornfully. "He has put me in his black lists forever."

Dr. Dorn frowned. "I suppose so, though you are technically within your rights. You surely have the right to believe or disbelieve in anybody you please. Still—perhaps it would be as well—understand, I'm speaking only for your own good—not to be seen too much with young Waters or others of his type. The dean dislikes social relations between students and teachers."

"Indeed! Dean Brown has been talking about me to you!"

Dr. Dorn colored and looked down. "No—nothing of any importance. I just thought—"

"I know," she interrupted, "he's told you I was running around with wild men and disgracing myself. He hates me because I won't give up all joy in life just to be a staid old teacher. "Why, do you know that he dared to suggest that Eric and I went away together!"

Something in the face of the man made her stop and stare. "Oh, he told you that too!" she cried, and wheeled about and walked away from him. Dr. Dorn hurried after her.

He put his hand on her arm and forced her to meet his eyes. "Listen," he begged. "It makes no difference what he said. I know you Judith. I try to make allowances for Brown. He's, well, a bit of a fanatic. Please believe—"

In broad daylight on the campus Judith stamped her foot at him. "Let me alone! I don't care what you think. You're as bad as he is—just as smug and bigoted."

She twitched away from his outstretched hand and ran down a curving walk, blind with tears.

Ravenwood P. T. A. to Buy New Piano

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Ravenwood Consolidated Schools held a meeting last night. A good crowd was present. It was voted to buy a piano to use in the grade rooms on the lower floor of the school. A small instrument will be purchased in order that it may easily be moved from room to room.

The association already has $100 to give toward the purchase of the piano and it is hoped that the community and board of education also will assist in paying for the instrument.

Davis School Will Give Third Program

Schools Hold Spelling Contests; Spelling Classes Hold Race Across Continent.

The pupils of the Davis school are preparing for their third program which will be given on November 24 at 2:30 p. m. They have made window decorations of baskets of fruit and put a border of turkeys on the blackboard.

The following is the program to be given by the Davis School Literary Society:

Song, "Upon Thanksgiving Day," School; recitation, "Why I'll Be Thankful," Charles William Hoshor; recitation, "One Drawback," Crystal Hubbard; recitation, "Serves Him Right," Anna Mae Buford; recitation, "The Day After," Maxine Tompkins; Literary Paper, Opal Burchett; a Thanksgiving song, Seven girls; recitation, "Glad to be a Little Girl," Lorraine Conrad; acrostic, T-h-a-n-k-s-g-i-v-i-n-g; recitation, "The Farmer," Maurice Hubbard; instrumental solo, Albert Bell; story of the First Thanksgiving, Mary Tompkins; song, "Jolly Boys," seven boys; recitation, A Thanksgiving Conversation," Imo Hoshor; recitation, "What I'm Thankful for," Wayne Collins; instrumental solo, Hildred Bolin; original Thanksgiving story, Forrest Conrad; song, "Over the River," Maurice Hubbard, Crystal Hubbard, and Imo Hoshor; recitation, "A Turkey's Soliloquy," Ralph Collins; recitation, "Tom's Thanksgiving," Edgar Williamson; song, "Thanksgiving Day," 'A' Class Girls; recitation, "The Proud Turkey," Mourine Collins; "Thanksgiving Day Exercises," C and D classes; Prophesy of 'A' Class, Raymond Tompkins; closing song, "A Thanksgiving Thought," school.

Davis School challenged the Trego School to a spelling match for Friday afternoon, Nov. 12, and the battle was carried on at the Trego school house.

Neither side won as time would not permit the match to be finished. Boyd Helzer from the Trego school and Mary Tompkins of the Davis school were the two pupils who stood up longest. For a long period of time there were five left standing on each side. The five on the Trego side were Boyd Helzer, Mary Margaret Lyle, Ethel Warren, Ernest Ashworth and Glade Helzer, and on the Davis side were Mary Tompkins, Vilas and Forrest Conrad, Raymond Tompkins and Harold Bolin. Charles Wm. Hoshor a beginner from the Davis school stayed up until most of the fourth and fifth grades were spelled down.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Bell, Mr. DeWitt Bolin, Miss Bernice Cliser and Mrs. Wm. Lyle visited the spelling match. Trego school will probably return the match some time soon.

The radio spelling contest that the classes of the Davis school were engaged in ended last week by the losing sides putting on the opening exercise programs. The members of the "B" class gave their program on Wednesday. The "C" class Thursday and the "A" class Friday morning. Very clever programs were put on.

The spelling classes are now engaged in a race across the continent. They are going in cars and have encountered several obstacles and had some car trouble.

FARM GLIMPSES

(By BILLY TILSON)

Arthur Rasco, J. W. Clayton, James Davidson and J. C. Nester, northwest of Barnard, were Maryville visitors yesterday. They report quite an amount of corn being cribbed, some making a very good yield while other fields are very light.

Emmett and Ollie Byergo, west of Guilford, were transacting business in the city yesterday.

Ora Carmichael and wife, southeast of Hopkins, were shopping in Maryville yesterday. Ora has a fine bunch of hogs that he is getting ready for the market. He says corn is not making a very heavy yield up that way.

Jake Sutterlin, southwest of the city, reports his corn all in the crib. He says it averaged around 40 bushels per acre and the quality was fair.

Lester Lyle, south of Maryville, finished cribbing his corn the first of the week. Only a fair yield was had. Most all the farmers in that locality are disappointed in the yield.

H. C. Kelly, south of the city, has had the large hedge along the highway pulled out and is putting in a wire fence in its stead. When he gets the brush cleaned up it will make a wonderful change in the looks of that fine farm.

The sale of Albert Carr, south of town, which was held Thursday, was attended by a large crowd and fair prices were had for the offerings. The horse market was "draggy" but horses are not in much demand at the present time.

Henry Leader and sons from southeast of Guilford were transacting business in Maryville yesterday. They report farmers busy cribbing their corn down that way. The yield and quality are not on the average. They say that there will not be much feeding in that territory this winter.

S. E. Armstrong, northwest of Barnard, is building a new modern residence on his farm, west of the Mt. Pleasant Church. It is of the bungalow style and will be used by his hired man. Sam has quite a bunch of hogs and cattle on the farm. He finishes and sends out several loads during the year.

Ed Goodpasture, east of Graham, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Goodpasture brought in quite a flock of chickens, realizing over $125.00 for them. Ed says some one has been falling into his henhouse and taking away his chickens for the last two years and they will be disappointed when they make their annual visit this year.

Clyde Goodpasture, east of Graham, had three of his large feeding hogs stolen a few nights ago and has failed to get any trace of them. Charles Crawford of the same neighborhood was not quite so unfortunate as they only took one from his feed lot and they butchered it right in the lot and dragged it out to the road where it was loaded in a truck. Farmers, watch your chicken houses and hog lots for this stealing has just begun for the winter months.

A Homecoming Game Is Scoreless---Warrensburg Wins M. I A. A. Title

COSMIC URGE TO BEARCATS

COLLEGE TEAM RARIN' TO GO FOR TARKIO GAME.

PLAY ON TURKEY DAY

A Victory Over Bearcats Means a Successful Tarkio Season, Editor Says.—Maryville Anxious.

The cosmic urge has struck the Bearcats.

From practices Thursday and yesterday afternoon, indications are that nothing short of a fighting State Teachers College team will be on the Maryville field Turkey Day when the Bearcats will meet the Tario College eleven in the traditional Thanksgiving game.

From the sidelines day before yesterday and yesterday it seemed that the Maryville team was going into practice in mid-season form rather than in the slump reported. There was plenty of pep and an abundance of spirit among the players.

Thursday the Bearcats worked out in front of the College administration building. A broken window in the Latin room, some scuffed-up shins from scrimmage, and the air full of footballs marked this practice.

For almost an hour H. Frank Lawrence and Paul Jones, the Maryville coaches, kept their charges at a punting drill. Willoughby and Search were sent to one end of the practice space to catch the kicks, while O'Banion and Miller alternated in punting. The rest of the squad lined up on each side of the center and ran down the punts.

The big College building sheltered the team from the wind, and some beautiful punts were gotten off by the two kickers. O'Banion, particularly, was "right" and his spirals were either high and lazy or long and fierce.

Yesterday the practice was held under the direction of Dave Eads, the Maryville captain who is suffering from a fractured shoulder. Both Maryville coaches were in Warrensburg officiating at the Warrensburg-Cape Girardeau football game and the be-mustached and be-bandaged Bearcat captain took charge of the work-out. After it was over, the players agreed that "Ikey" was a hard taskmaster.

Perhaps there will be an altered line-up in the Tarkio game. With Eads missing from the backfield, there is much conjecture as to who will start in that department. Willoughby will undoubtedly open the game at quarterback, and Search will probably be at right half. The other two places will either be filled by O'Banion and Miller, Miller and Wilson, or O'Banion and Wilson. Or Berst may be in the backfield.

In the line, Coach Lawrence will start Graham at center. At guards it is impossible to tell who will start. McCullough has been getting a lot of practice, with James, Fous, Cox, and Mullenax also working in the next-to-center positions.

The tackles will probably be filled by Hartman and Westfall, and Bert Ervin will likely be on right end. Berst or Miller will be at left end, with the pssibility that Joy may take that wing.

Coach Aubrey Pittinger is bringing his entire squad and about half of the town of Tarkio to Maryville, according to reports. The Tarkio team has had an unsuccessful season only insofar as scores have been concerned. The tail-end place in the Missouri College Conference is based on the fact that the Tarks have lost all of their games by from one point to seven. Critics who are minimizing the Tarkio team because it has failed to win are forgetting that all victories over the Tarks have been by exceedingly small margins.

A letter from Russell Patterson, editor of the Tarkio College Phoenix, says:

"We are all keyed up to beat Maryville. Although we have not won a conference game, our season will be a howling success if we can beat your Bearcats. And you can believe that a victory is what we are working for."

Tarkio is always a tough nut to crack. Last year the Bearcats had easier sailing than ever before, but this year it bids well to be a different story. It is unfair to both teams to assume that there will be a one-sided victory for either.

The Thanksgiving game will start at 2 o'clock and Tad Reid, the Warrensburg coach, will referee. The other officials have not been chosen.

The game on Thanksgiving Day will mark the eighth meeting this year between M. I. A. A. teams and those from the other conference. In the other seven games, the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association teams have been vistorious. This also spurs the Maryville team toward victory.

The women's intramural athletics program at the State Teachers College is in full swing. The program embraces a half-dozen sports for women students and is based on interclass competition. This, according to Dr. Ethel J. Saxman, director of physical education for women, makes it possible for many times the number of women to participate than was the case when the College took part in intercollegiate competition.

The athletic program is based on a point system, so many points being given for proficiency in each sport. At the end of the school year, the College makes an award to the ten women students who have the highest number of points.

Five points are given to each woman who makes a class team in any sport. After the class teams are chosen, a varsity team is picked from those participating in a tournament between the class teams. Those who win places on a varsity team are given three additional points. At the end of the year points are given in sportsmanship and posture. Ten points is the maximum for each of these and a stpdent must make at least eight points in both sportsmanship and posture to qualify for the College award.

There are six sports during the year. The first, volley ball, has been completed. Swimming is already under way, and basketball will be the next sport. There will also be soccer, track and tennis.

The tournament in volley ball was held this week, and the sophomore class was victorious. Each class team met each other class team. The sophomores were victorious in all of their games, the juniors won two games out of three, the freshmen won one out of three, and the seniors were defeated in all of their games. Following are the scores of the tournament games:

Sophomores 90—Seniors 14.
Juniors 32—Freshmen 29.
Sophomores 35—Juniors 6.
Freshmen 26—Seniors 10.
Sophomores 35—Freshmen 24.
Juniors 21—Seniors 19.

Dr. Saxman said today that interest is great in the sports program and that a large number of women are being benefitted by it. An effort is being made to interest every woman student of the College in some sort of sport, and a physical education course is required of all women students for any degree or certificate issued by the institution.

Followins are the students on the four volley ball teams:

The champion sophomore team: Virginia Dean, captain; Margaret Johnson, Lois Brown, Eva Craig, Genevieve Dietrich, Mildred Clark, Margaret Quinlan; substitutes are Edna Sturm, Ruth England and Edna Giffin.

The junior team: Hazel Moore, captain, Ludema Tannehill, Marie Woods, Hazel Sullivan, Rose Patton, Electa Bailey, Avis Gaemlich, and Vada Kliser.

St. Joseph Team Plays Conception Tomorrow

The St. Joseph All-Stars, a football team, will meet the Conception College gridders at Conception field at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The game which was postponed from last Sunday, is expected to be a big drawing card in the Conception vicinity.

The St. Joseph team has not been defeated this season.

Elmo Wins Two Games From Hopkins Cagers

Both Contests Fast.—Adkins Leads Boys With Five Field Goals.—Miller High Girl Scorer.

The Elmo and Hopkins high school teams played a double header at Elmo last night. The Elmo teams won both games, the girls 29 to 14, and the boys 19 to 12. The Elmo girls were very fast and ran up a 18 to 2 score in the first half. The boys game was fast and the Elmo boys had their hands full in winning. Adkins of Elmo was high point man in the boys game with 5 field goals. Miller of Elmo was the high scorer in the girls game with 9 points. There was a good crowd present. Davault of Burlington Junction refereed.

At No Time Did Tiger Yearlings Threaten To Score.—Both Touchdowns In First Half.

The University of Kansas freshman football team started a Jawhawk celebration by winning over the University of Missouri yearlings in their first football game of all time at Columbia yesterday. The score was 13 to 0. The game was played on a muddy and snow-covered field; both touchdowns coming in the opening half.

Schmidt, Jayhawk quarterback, intercepted a Missouri pass in the first few minutes of the game and raced 50 yards to a touchdown. His try for point was good. In the second quarter, Propernick, Kansas fullback, slid through the Missouri line for 7 yards and a touchdown.

The Missouri team was decidly inferior. At no time did it threaten to score. There were frequent penalties on the Missourians.

HOMECOMING GAME A TIE

MARYVILLE AND MAYSVILLE TEAMS PLAY SCORELESSLY.

A TOUCHDOWN, ALMOST

Penalty for Maryville Keeps Gridders From Counting From 3-Yard Line in Third Quarter.

Over-anxiety on the part of the Maryville High School backfield caused them to miss scoring in yesterday's Homecoming game on the College field with the Maysville High gridders. The game was scoreless for each team, and was hotly contested from start to finish.

This case of too much wishing to score came in the third quarter, when a Maryville punt had been recovered in the shadow of the Maysville goal posts after being touched by the visiting safety.

Maryville had the ball on about the 3-yard line and a plunge through the center of the line was called. Somehow, the man with the ball got ahead of his backfield mates, who piled up behind him in such a manner as to constitute a foul, and the Green and Black was penalized 15 yards for pushing.

Seemingly undaunted by this setback, the M. H. S. gridders made two desperate attempts to score. The first, a beautiful and well-executed fake place-kick formation, resulted in again placing the ball near the goal line, and the second, which was as neat a triple pass as one could wish, took the pigskin to within a foot of the goal. There the oval was lost on downs.

I nthe fourth quarter Maryville had the ball within kicking distance of the Maysville uprights, but a place kick by McMurry was blocked before it crossed the line of scrimmage, and the ball went to Maysville.

The teams were about evenly matched, with the edge in aggressiveness going to the plucky little pony team of Maryville. Maysville had a big advantage in weight, but the Green and Black made up for less poundage by more of the old proverbial fight.

The game started with snow spitting and a regular gale blowing across the gridiron. This wind subsided somewhat about the middle of the second quarter, but in the first period it was almost disastrous for Wilson, Maryville punter, who had great difficulty in getting distance out of his kicks.

As far as Maryville was concerned, Gene Hall was the outstanding player. His defensive work was of high calibre. Time and again he broke through the heavier Maysville line to throw an ambitious backfield man for a loss. The other Maryville players seemed imbued with the spirit of Homecoming, and there can be no criticism of their playing.

"Red" Kissinger and "Kenny" Swinford, both potential backfield men, watched the game from the sidelines in civilians' clothing. The former was down in his grades and could not play, and the diminutive one of the pair was suffering from an injury sustained earlier in the season.

Had Kissinger been in the game, Maryville would have had a much better chance to score with the ball deep in Maysville territory, for the Shetland backfield of M. H. S., just didn't have the avoirdupois to plough through the visitors' primary defense at will.

Enough people to normally almost fill the south bleachers were crowded into half the seating space yesterday. The huddle system was employed both on field and off, and the get-together spirit prevailed because of the atmosphere.

More spectators than usual watched the game from automobiles on the two sides of the field.

A number of fumbles were recorded during the game. The cold day made fingers numb, and several seemingly-completed passes bounded off of finger tips which were powerless to grasp the pigskin. At that, each team completed one long pass and several flips were intercepted.

T. E. Lail, coach of the Chillicothe Business College team, refereed the game and performed acceptably. George Barkley and Dave Eads from the State Teachers College, were umpire and head linesman, respectively. Both were adequate.

The Warrensburg State Teachers College Mules are the undisputed champions of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association in the game of football. When the Mules romped roughshod over the Cape Girardeau Indians yesterday at Warrensburg, and won, 33 to 0, they cinched the conference championship and came through the season without a M. I. A. A. defeat.

Second place in the association goes to Kirksville, defeated only by Warrensburg. The Maryville College Bearcats are in third place, with two conference victories and two defeats, and Springfield is in fourth place, having won one game and lost three. The Cape Girardeau team has no competition for the cellar position with four M. I. A. A. defeats.

Scoring honors for the season went to the Kirksville team, which totaled 129 points in its four conference games. Teams which played against Kirksville totaled 33 points.

Warrensburg scored 71 points to 12 for its opponents, and Maryville scored 24 points against 72 for M. I. A. A., opposition.

Springfield tallied 13 points while teams against which the Bears played amassed 54 points. Cape Girardeau scored 10 points while teams which defeated the Indians totaled 76.

These scores show that Warrensburg had by far the best defensive team and that offensive honors went to Kirksville. It also shows that the Warrensburg defense was stronger than the Kirksville offense, for the Mules were the only team to trim the Bulldogs.

The Warrensburg-Cape Girardeau game yesterday was as one sided as the score would indicate. Neither team scored in the opening quarter and in the second the Mules counted only once. Whiteman carried the ball over from the 2-yard line after a series of line bucks and end runs which carried the ball from the center of the field. Whiteman added the point from placement.

In the early part of the third quarter Roy Brown made a touchdown on an end run for 25 yards and a few minutes later Scott carried it over for another from the 5-yard line. Reid and R. Brown added two more touchdowns in the closing quarter.

Warrensburg outplayed the visitors in every department of the game. It made nineteen first downs as compared with only two made by the visitors, and those came in the last few minutes of play when practically an entire team of substitutes was playing.

Scott, Whiteman, Roy Brown, Mike Brown and Cull played well for Warrensburg.
